

Hunterdon Symphony begins 40th season C9

BUCKS COUNTY HERALD LIVING ENTERTAINMENT - ART

“Changing Seasons” opens at Silverman Gallery C10

SECTION C

October 31, 2019

“Enlightened” sculpture unveiled

“Exhibitionist,” the newest installation of New Hope Arts Outdoor Sculpture Project at the Studio Sculpture Garden on North Main Street.

New Hope Arts celebrated the installation of its latest outdoor sculpture Oct. 18 at the Studio Sculpture Garden on North Main Street in New Hope.

Owner JaQuinley Kerr and sculpture garden manager Pamela Kerr were on hand to welcome sculptor Christopher Kennedy along with fabricator Mark Hutzky. New Hope Arts Executive Director Carol Cruickshanks gave a welcoming speech to the award-winning sculpture, called “Exhibitionist.” Not only was unveiled, it was “enlightened.”

Kennedy, creator of a photographic lighting technique called PhotoLuminism, brought his fascination with light to his first sculptural endeavor. Not only is the sculpture covered in a reflective paint that allows the sculpture to change how it looks in different light, but after dark, interior lighting creates an ever-changing light display for the evening hours.

The lighting system and programming was provided by Kevin Darrah of kdcircuits.com. Ethernet wiring was provided by ISEOTech.com.

The New Hope Arts Outdoor Sculpture Program is a free and accessible public art display creating an artistic gateway into the borough of New Hope. Anyone can visit the walkable, family-friendly exhibit, which features 20 contemporary sculptures by regional and national artists.

More information and the New Hope Arts sculpture map can be seen at sculptureproject.org.

Photographs by Libby and Gordon Nieburg

Pam Kerr manager of the Studio Sculpture Garden, Sculptor Christopher Kennedy, JaQuinley Kerr, owner of the Studio Inn property, artistic engineer Mark Hutzky and Ruthie Hutzky pose in front of “Exhibitionist.”

Carol Cruickshanks, director of New Hope Arts; Bill Scandone, president of New Hope Arts; and Ryan Fuller, treasurer of New Hope Arts, hold the photographic proposal Christopher Kennedy submitted to the New Hope Arts Outdoor Sculpture Contest for selection.

Sculptor Christopher Kennedy and his artistic engineer Mark Hutzky stand in front of the veiled sculpture “Exhibitionist.”

Christopher Kerr and Cathy Kerr.

Artist Christopher Kennedy and his wife, Wendy Hawkes, chat with guests Nancy Rowan, Henry Rowan and Al Campoli.

Richard Blenheim and Ginny Waters.

Sue Santoni, New Hope Mayor Larry Keller and Joanne Baskin.

JaQuinley Kerr, owner of the Studio Inn property, and Bucks County Assistant District Attorney Jose Perez.